CISI Level 7 Diploma in Advanced Financial Planning

This is an assessment at Level 7. To pass, the candidate must satisfactorily complete a financial planning report and recommendations relative to a specific client case study provided by the CISI. The report will be assessed independently and will either be assessed as a pass or fail. If the latter, the candidate will have two further attempts to complete the report to a pass standard, after which a new case study will need to be attempted.

'I attended a 2 day workshop in London with Cris in preparation for the first sitting of the new CISI Level 6 Certificate in Advanced Financial Planning exam (March 2020). Having come from doing CII exams Cris was able to clearly explain how the CISI exams differ and guide me through the key parts of the syllabus. His style of teaching had the right balance of intensity and detail without overloading or confusing me and I left feeling in a much more confident and focused position. As a result I passed the exam with Merit and would have no hesitation in recommending Cris to anyone looking to improve their chances of passing.'

Mark Robinson, Director & Chartered Financial Planner

'Our firm has worked with Glasgow Training for several years now, during which time we have called on Cris's considerable expertise numerous times. Cris has coached CISI exam candidates at all levels and the results have been excellent. The feedback from colleagues who have sought assistance has always reflected his excellent knowledge of both the technical topics and of exam craft. As a training manager I particularly value Glasgow Consulting's responsiveness and flexibility in providing us solutions that fit our needs and Cris's insight and advice is highly recommended.'
